An Author Cited by Another Author

Cite the source you read in your reference page.

Example: Davis, A.Y. (2012). The meaning of freedom and other difficult dialogues. San Francisco, CA: City Lights Books.

When you discuss someone quoted by your source (ex. Davis, A.Y.), quote the original source in your signal phrase. Your in-text citation should refer to your source.

Example: According to Paul Robeson, “Those who tell the world that racism in American life is merely a fading hangover from the past, and is largely limited to one section of our country, cannot explain away the infamous Walter McCarran Immigration Act passed by Congress since the war” (as cited in Davis, 2012, p.78).
